

A black and white photograph of a long, single-story building with a gabled roof, identified as the Dover Airport. The building has a sign on its front that reads "DOVER AIRPORT" in large, bold, serif capital letters. Below the text is a small graphic of a winged aircraft. The building is surrounded by several bushes and small trees. In the foreground, there is a grassy area and a paved road. To the right of the road, there is a road sign that reads "DEL 8".
